It was an honor to attend the University Research Showcase presented by the Marcellus Shale Coalition. Not only did this opportunity allow for exponential academic lessons but allowed for great personal growth. It was a few days of finding comfort in being uncomfortable, as I was able to engage in many awesome conversations. Engaging in the University Research Showcase and further broadening my knowledge of international relations within the natural gas industry struck a newfound interest and passion of mine. I will forever talk highly on this experience that I was so graciously able to attend."
